

For Utah's Permanent Prosperity

The manufacturers of Utah believe that if the people of the state fully realized and appreciated the benefit to be derived by all classes through the consistent and continued support of Utah's industries, and how much the permanent prosperity of the state depends upon the success of her manufacturing interests, the Utah-made products consumed within the state would immediately be multiplied many times.

Prosperous Factories Make a Prosperous State

When our Utah factories are throbbing with activity; when only by the greatest effort can our factories keep up with orders, there's work for everyone—happier homes, more contented people and a more prosperous state.

The best way to make Utah permanently prosperous is to make her industries prosperous and to keep our money within the state.

Call it patriotism if you care; it may better be described by the term common sense.

Co-operation Will Accomplish Big Things

If the people of the state would buy Utah products in preference to other goods, where this could be done without sacrifice of either quality or price, the payrolls of Utah would be increased tenfold in a very short time.

Many times Utah's have united to accomplish big things. Right now the most profitable thing that could be done to insure permanent prosperity is to unite to build our home industries.

Tremendously big results could be accomplished through wholehearted co-operation.

Utah Manufacturers Ask No Favors

The manufacturers of Utah ask the support of the people of the state only when Utah goods compare favorably in both price and quality with outside products.

Too much of the money we Utahns have spent for manufactured products in the past has gone to develop the industries of other states to the detriment of our own best interests.

Now the time has come when, for our own good, the people of the state should stand together and work for the advancement of the community as a whole.

Let's All Work Together for Utah

This is the first of a series of advertisements to be published by the Utah Manufacturers Association setting forth the reasons why Utah people should buy Utah products and showing how the benefits will extend, either directly or indirectly, to all the people of the state.

MEMORIAL SERVICES AT PRICE METHODIST CHURCH

Since the close of the civil war the Sunday preceding Memorial Day has been observed by all the Protestant churches of America in honoring the fallen heroes of 1861-5 and in paying special respect to the Grand Army veterans and surviving widows, who are now "marching to the final roll-call." Such was the nature of a very impressive service at the Methodist church in Price last Sunday. An automobile took to the church the only two surviving veterans and one widow. A large choir sang

"Tenting Tonight on the Old Camp Ground," and "Just Before the Battle, Mother." Rev. Ralph C. Jones gave a splendid address in which he paid a glowing tribute to the Grand Army of the Republic, whose ranks are fast thinning and will soon be gone.

The United States railroad administration is going to help enforce the federal and state prohibition laws. In a circular letter addressed to Central Western railroads, Regional Director Halse Holden makes it clear that the administration cannot tolerate the violation of federal and state laws relating to liquor upon its trains. The letter states that reports have reached the war department of intoxication of soldiers and sailors on trains and the drinking of intoxicating liquors upon such trains by civilians in violation of law. Holden calls on all railroadmen to co-operate in the suppression of this evil.

KEPT WORD WITH STORES; SULLIVAN, CONVICT, DEAD

Joseph Sullivan, 40 years of age and who served a term in Utah penitentiary for the killing of W. P. Ford, Salt Lake City patrolman, is dead in Fresno, Calif., according to word received by Warden George A. Storrs last Wednesday. Sullivan was the convict who pursued two negro convicts who escaped from a prison camp up near Colton some fifteen months ago. He believed the negroes had gone to Kansas City, but he found they had staid in. He wrote letters to the warden assuring him that he would return. In due time he presented himself at the institution and resumed serving time. His sentence was terminated by the board of penitentiaries a few months ago. He wrote in Storrs frequently and expressed the intention of going to sea as he found he had contracted tuberculosis while in prison. Instead he was compelled to go to a hospital in Fresno, where he died.

For the first time since the death of Brigham Young his descendants will hold their annual reunion, May 30th, today, at the Beehive Home upon the invitation of President Heber J. Grant of the Mormon church. Many of the living members of the Young family were born in the Beehive Home, among whom are the late Richard W. Young and Brigham S. Young. Over a hundred relatives of Brigham Young were in the service of the United States in the recent world war and the reunion will take on a new significance because many of these will attend.
